Our aim in legal practice is simple. We don't just give our clients a voice. We let them speak through us in accordance with their laws and customs on country. In our experience, it has long been the case that 'whitefella' law was the overriding, if not only, factor considered when legal advice was given to Indigenous clients. So often the client's 'right' to receive advice, make a decision and voice that decision to their advisors on country and in accordance with their traditional laws and customs is overlooked.	Certified
